

ELEVEN

The page contains ten horizontal rows for handwriting practice. Each row is defined by three lines: a solid top line, a dashed middle line, and a solid bottom line. The first two lines of each row are divided into ten equal-width columns by vertical dotted lines. A small black dot is placed at the bottom of each column, serving as a starting point for writing the number 11. The remaining two lines of each row are left blank for independent practice.